

CF-Item-One-Barcode-Sign

Page 1
Date 31-Aug-2004
Time 3:45:38 PM

Login Name Upasana Young (RAM & Hist Proj. Assist. Consultant)

CF-RAI-USAA-DB01-2004-000030

Expanded Number CF-RAI-USAA-DB01-2004-000030

External ID

Title

Photos by Anthony Hewett UNICEF series 7029 - 7040 with press release March 75, "New Emergencies in Indochina prompt relief efforts for children and mothers" Photos of Phnom Penh, Cambodia. Photo quality black & White

| | | | | |
|------------------------|------------------------|--------------------------------|-----------------------|--------------------|
| Date Created | Date Registered | Itm Da02: Date Received | Date Published | Date Closed |
| 31-Aug-2004 at 3:44 PM | 31-Aug-2004 at 3:44 PM | | | |

All Contacts

Itm Fd01: In, Out, Internal Rec or Rec Copy

Record Type A101 ITEM DIGITAL IMAGE CF-RAI-USAA-DB01

Container

Owner Location Record & Archive Manage Related Functions=80669443

Home Location Record & Archive Manage Related Functions=80669443

Current Location/Assignee At Home Location: Record & Archive Manage Related Functions=80669443 sin

| | | |
|----------------------------------|---------------------------|-----------------------------|
| Itm Nu01: Number of Pages | Itm Nu02: Doc Year | Itm Nu03: Doc Number |
| 0 | 0 | 0 |

| | | | |
|---------------------------|----------------------------------|-------------------------------|-----------------|
| Itm Fg01: Current? | Itm Fg02: Status Certain? | Itm Fg03: Record Copy? | Priority |
| No | No | No | |

Source Document

Document Details Record has no document attached.

Notes

Print Name of Person Submit Image

Upasana

Signature of Person Submit

Number of images without cover

42

MARCH 1975

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
PHOTO STORY

NEW EMERGENCIES IN INDOCHINA PROMPT
RELIEF EFFORTS FOR CHILDREN AND MOTHERS

Amid the swiftly-moving events of recent weeks in the Indochina Peninsula, new emergencies have developed for children and mothers.

In the Republic of Viet-Nam, war has finally over-flowed the sandbags, barbed wire and other fortifications which have been part of everyday life in long-contested provinces. Hundreds of thousands more have been added to the millions already displaced and made refugees by hostilities in the Peninsula.

The emergency in Cambodia, particularly in Phnom Penh, is the most clearly defined. More than 1½ million people displaced by the fighting have swollen the city's population from 375,000 before the war to more than 2 million today.

The strain on hospitals and health services has been overwhelming. Patients crowd the hospital wards and balconies, and the waiting rooms of visiting clinics run by voluntary agencies in the city's camps and poorer quarters.

The greatest problem, however, is the sharp increase in malnutrition and undernourishment among children. With interruptions to food supplies in the provinces and staggering inflation of commercial food prices, undernourishment has been widespread in Phnom Penh for many months. In mid-1974, a survey of children established that more than half were enough underweight to be medically classified as "at risk".

The situation has deteriorated even more in the last three months and nutrition centres have not been able to cope with numbers of malnourished children; one reported that for lack of space it had to turn away five of every six malnutrition cases referred to it.

UNICEF, two years into its $44 million long-term rehabilitation programme in the Indochina Peninsula, has launched immediate relief efforts to meet the new needs. Emergency help has been supplied over the past two years to all sides in the conflict in all parts of the Indochina Peninsula.

/...

In the Republic of Viet-Nam, UNICEF is supplying, as a first response, $800,00 to $900,000 worth of tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, tents, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams in emergency camps. The first supplies have already been airlifted to Saigon.

In Phnom Penh, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of children's food and drugs for malnourished children. It is also helping to add nutrition treatment centres to the city's 11 dispensaries and to quintuple the capacity of the children's ward at a Phnom Penh hospital. Meanwhile, UNICEF's emergency stockpile of drugs and medical supplies is supporting the work of government health services and voluntary agencies.

PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT UNICEF SERIES 7029 to 7040

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7029

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- Barbed wire and sandbags have been a part of everyday life for children like this one in the long-contested province of Quang Ngai.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

EMERGENCY

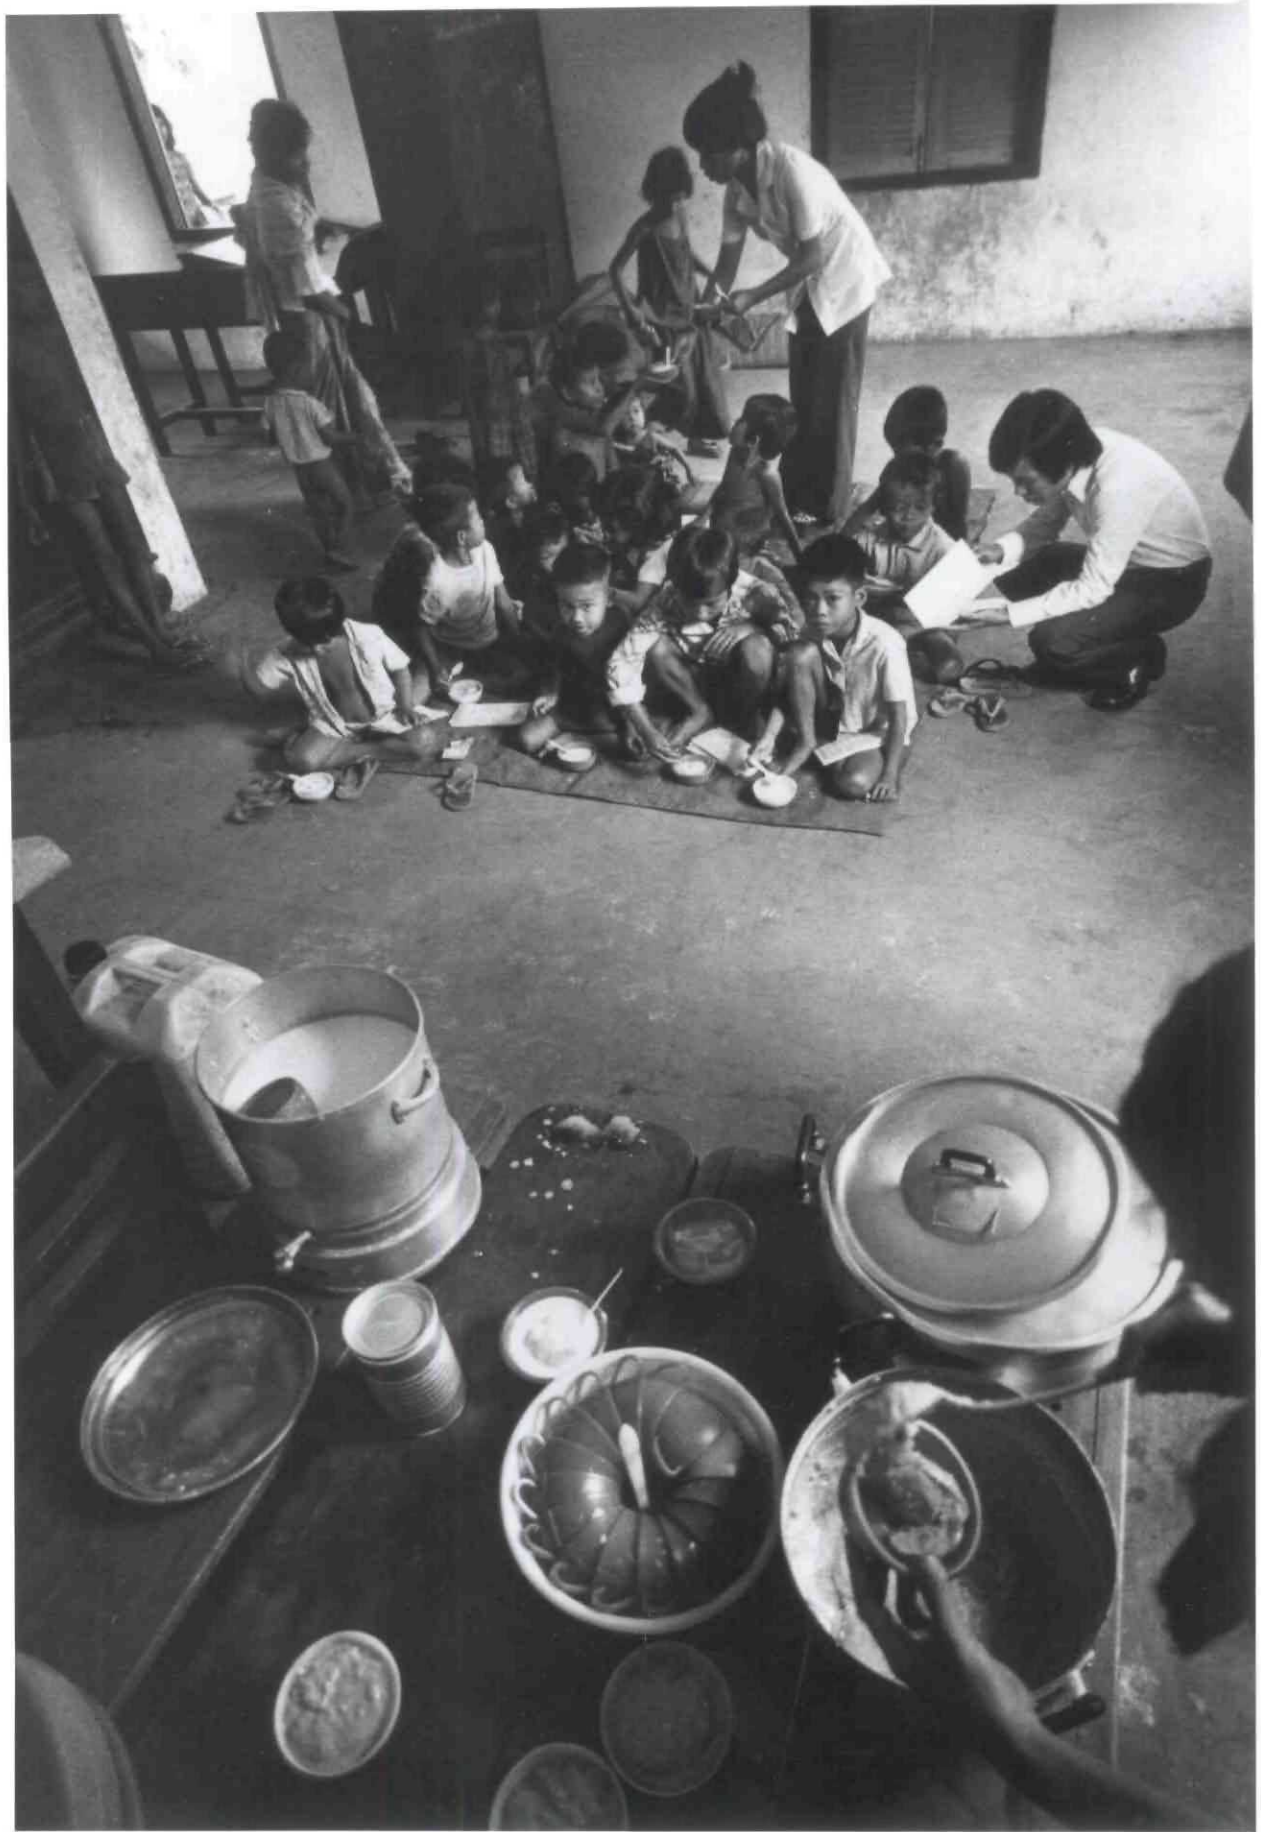

CAMBODIA

ICEF 7070

IGNATIEFF/75 - Unloading skim milk powder from a UNICEF-chartered DC-4 at Phnom Penh airport. UNICEF staff on the spot receive materials from all over the world and arrange for their systematic distribution to hospitals, dispensaries and nutrition centres in Phnom Penh and provincial centres.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric drugs, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY IGNATIEFF

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7072

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - Special food for undernourished children is distributed at the nutrition treatment centre in Takhman, near Phnom Penh. UNICEF has been providing corn-soya-blend, milk powder, cooking oil and paediatric drugs.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7037

, EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- Four-year old Phiroum, his skin mottled by malnutrition, was admitted to Tuol Kauk weighing only 9.6 kg. (21.12 lbs.) a week before this picture was taken. His gain in weight is slow, but it has started; he now weighs 9.7 Kg. (21.34 lbs.)

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7032

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- Food is distributed once a day to the 3,600 children at this large refugee camp on the outskirts of Phnom Penh; ration cards are used to keep the distribution equitable.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7033

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- At a voluntary agency clinic in the refugee camp, children can receive treatment for illnesses and shots against tuberculosis and dermatitis. The clinic treats about 300 patients a day.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7035

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- Tuol Kruk nutrition centre in Phnom Penh is run by a voluntary agency which is backed up with UNICEF supplies of drugs and special foods. Even while operating at 30% above peak capacity, the centre has had to turn away five out of six cases referred to it, so great has been the increase in the numbers of malnourished children.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CKEDI UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7034

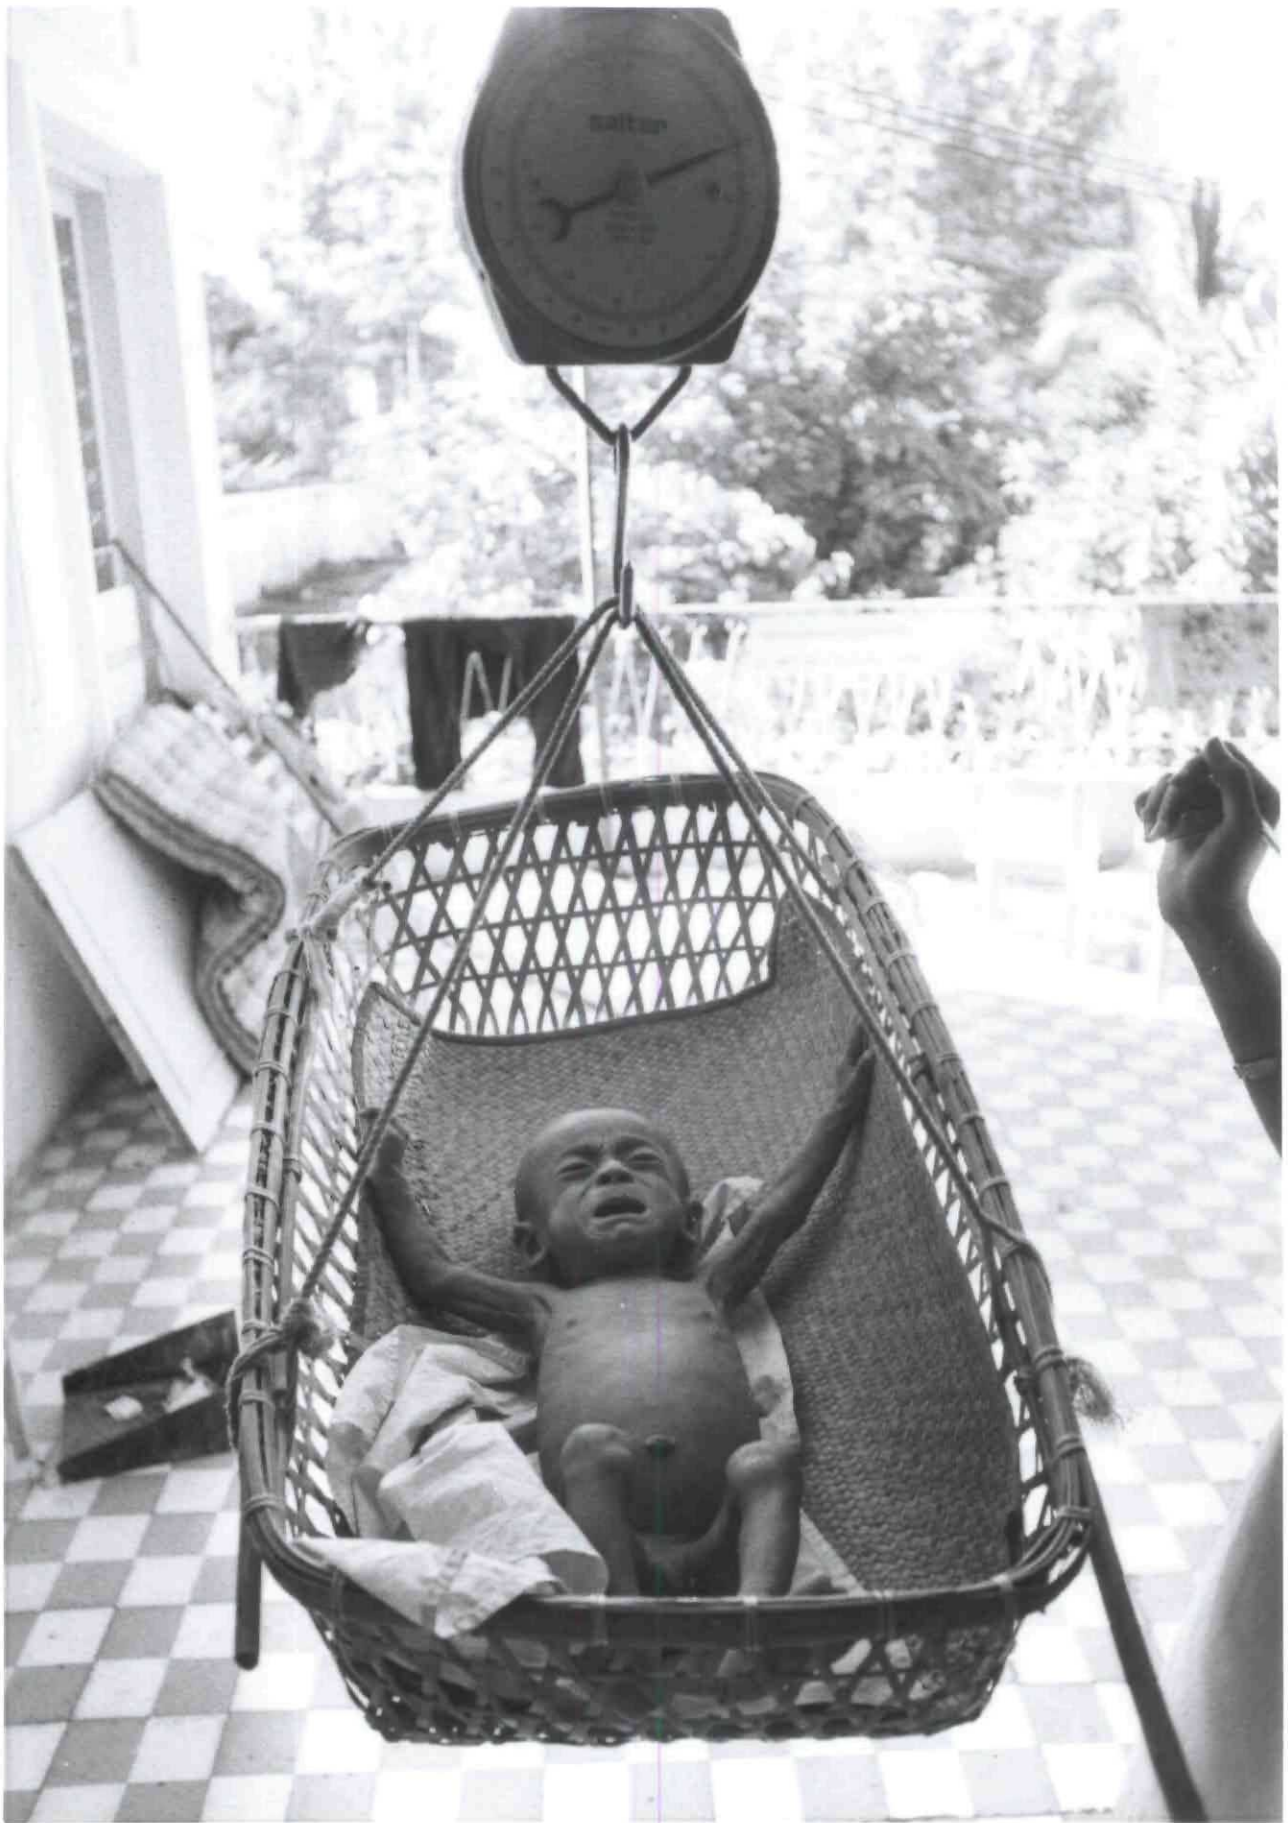

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- The balcony of one of Phnom Penh's two civilian hospitals is crowded with patients, including civilian and military victims of the war. Much more space and personnel are needed to meet the demands of the war and the quadrupling of Phnom Penh's population. With UNICEF help, this hospital is increasing five-fold the capacity of its children's ward.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7040

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- A malnourished boy is being weighed at the Tuol Kank centre. Although he is more than 18 months old, the scale shows he weighs only 5 kg. (11 lbs.)

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7039

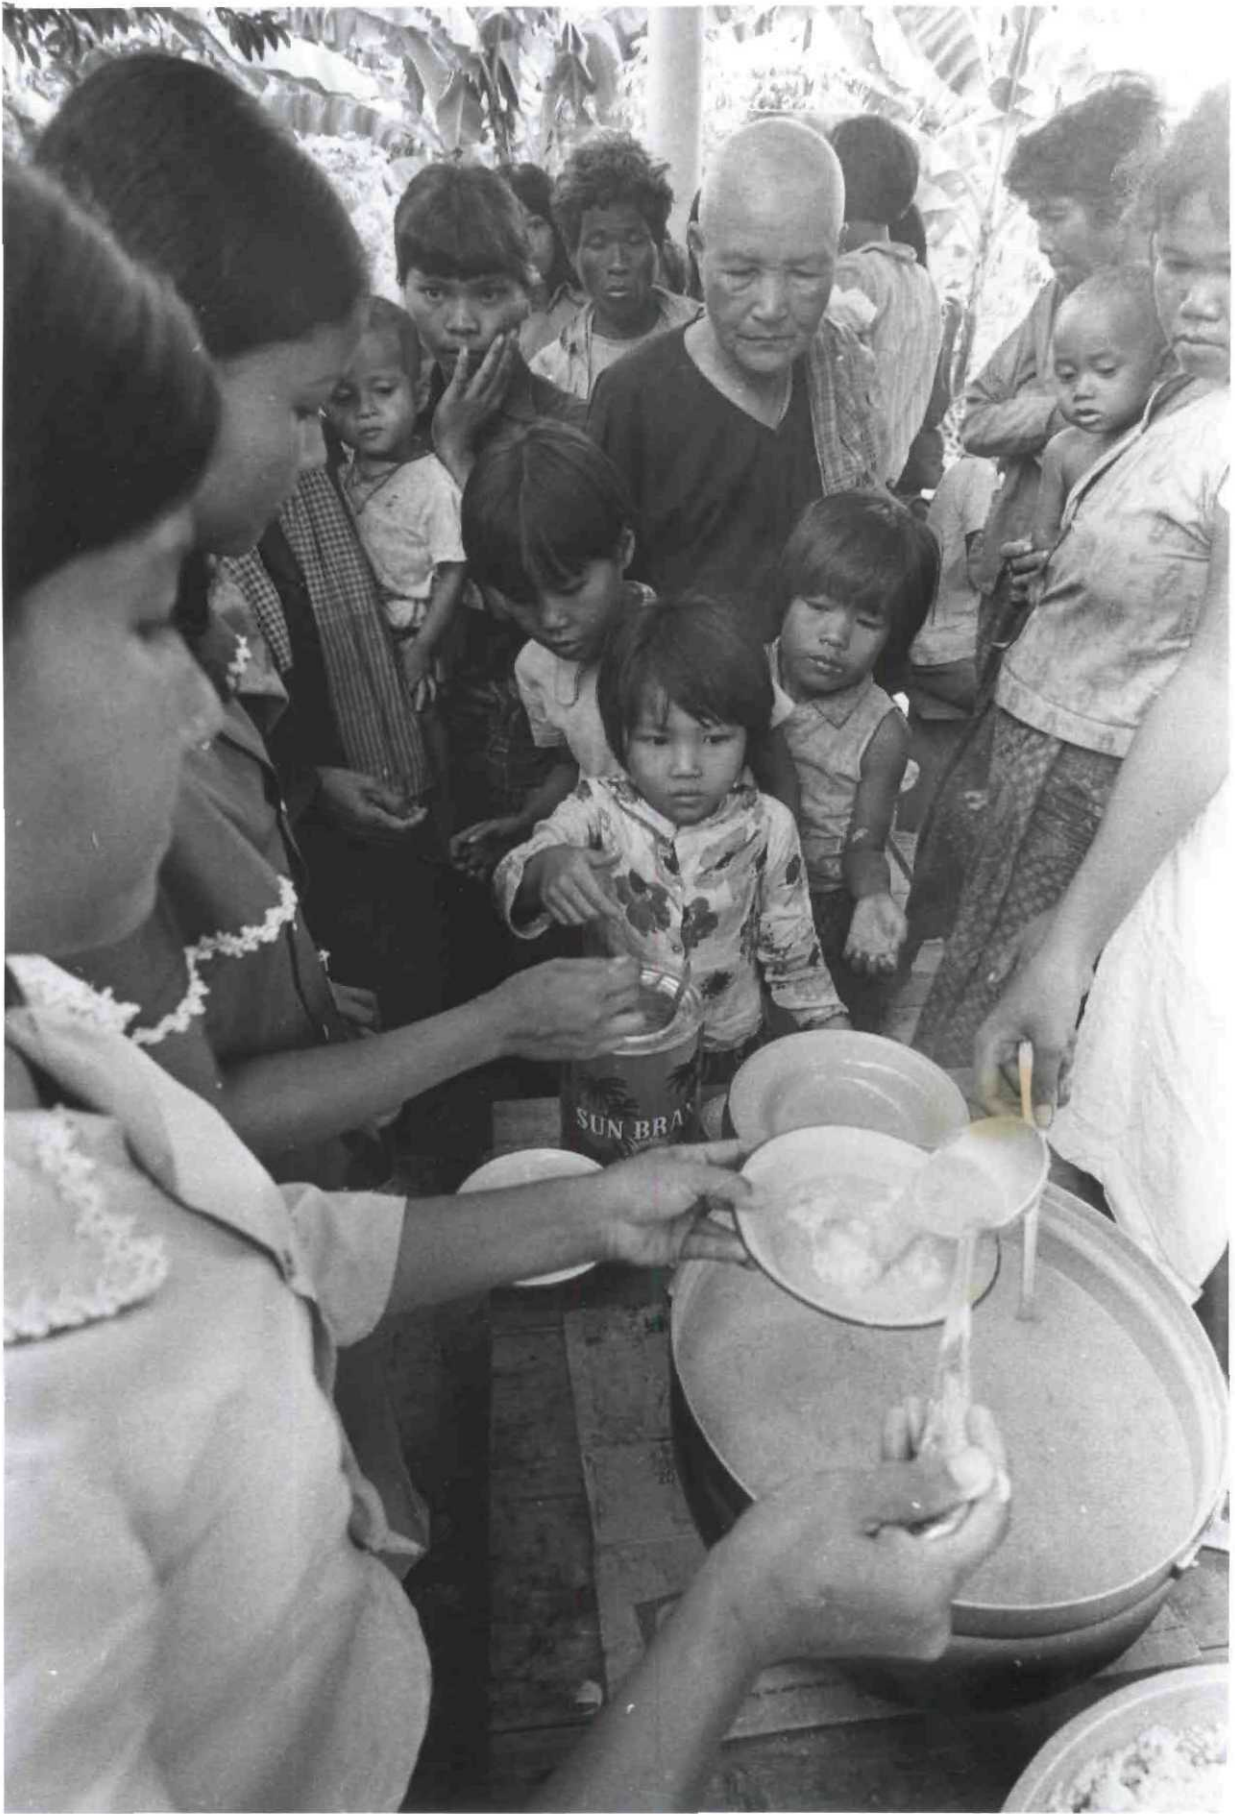

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- This child at the Tuol Kauk centre has the outsized head, wrinkled skin and "old man look" that are characteristic of severe malnutrition.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7071

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - Children receive nutritional food in one of the feeding centres operated by the British Save the Children Fund. UNICEF has been providing transport, corn-soya blend, milk powder, cooking oil and paediatric drugs especially for malnourished children.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEMP 7073

FIELD OFFICE

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - A mother feeds her child with the special, nourishing food she received at the nutrition treatment centre in Takmanu, near Phnom Penh. The centre is operated by the Terre des Hommes Khmer organization. UNICEF has been providing corn-soya-bland, milk powder, cooking oil and paediatric drugs.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7074

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - An undernourished child at the nutrition treatment centre in Takmau near Phnom Penh.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7069

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - UNICEF Representative, Paul Ignatieff, who has remained in Cambodia throughout the fighting, examines intravenous solution recently airshipped to the UNICEF warehouse in Phnom Penh. UNICEF staff on the spot receive materials from all over the world and arrange for their systematic distribution to hospitals, dispensaries and nutrition centres in Phnom Penh and provincial centres.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7075

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - A father brings his severely malnourished child to the nutrition centre in Takhmanu near Phnom Penh for treatment. UNICEF has been providing corn-soya blend, milk powder, cooking oil and paediatric drugs to the centre which is operated by the Terre des Hommes Khmer organization.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7077

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - A young Cambodian girl is examined by a Khmer doctor at one of the recently repaired Phnom Penh dispensaries. UNICEF has been providing drugs, diet supplements and transport for these dispensaries through a grant from the Canadian Government.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

CAMBODIA

EMERGENCY

ICEF 7076

CAMERON/75 - A group of mothers with malnourished children wait for treatment and food. UNICEF has been providing corn-soya-blend, milk powder, cooking oil and paediatric drugs to the nutrition treatment centre which is operated by the Terre des Hommes Khmer organization in Takman near Phnom Penh.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICF 7079

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - Young nurses take information from mothers in a clinic operated in Phnom Penh pagoda. UNICEF has been providing assistance to the British Save the Children Fund which is operating feeding centres and clinics for children in a Phnom Penh's pagodas, by supplying transport, corn-soya blend, milk powder, cooking oil and paediatric services, especially for malnourished children.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs, UNICEF in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7078

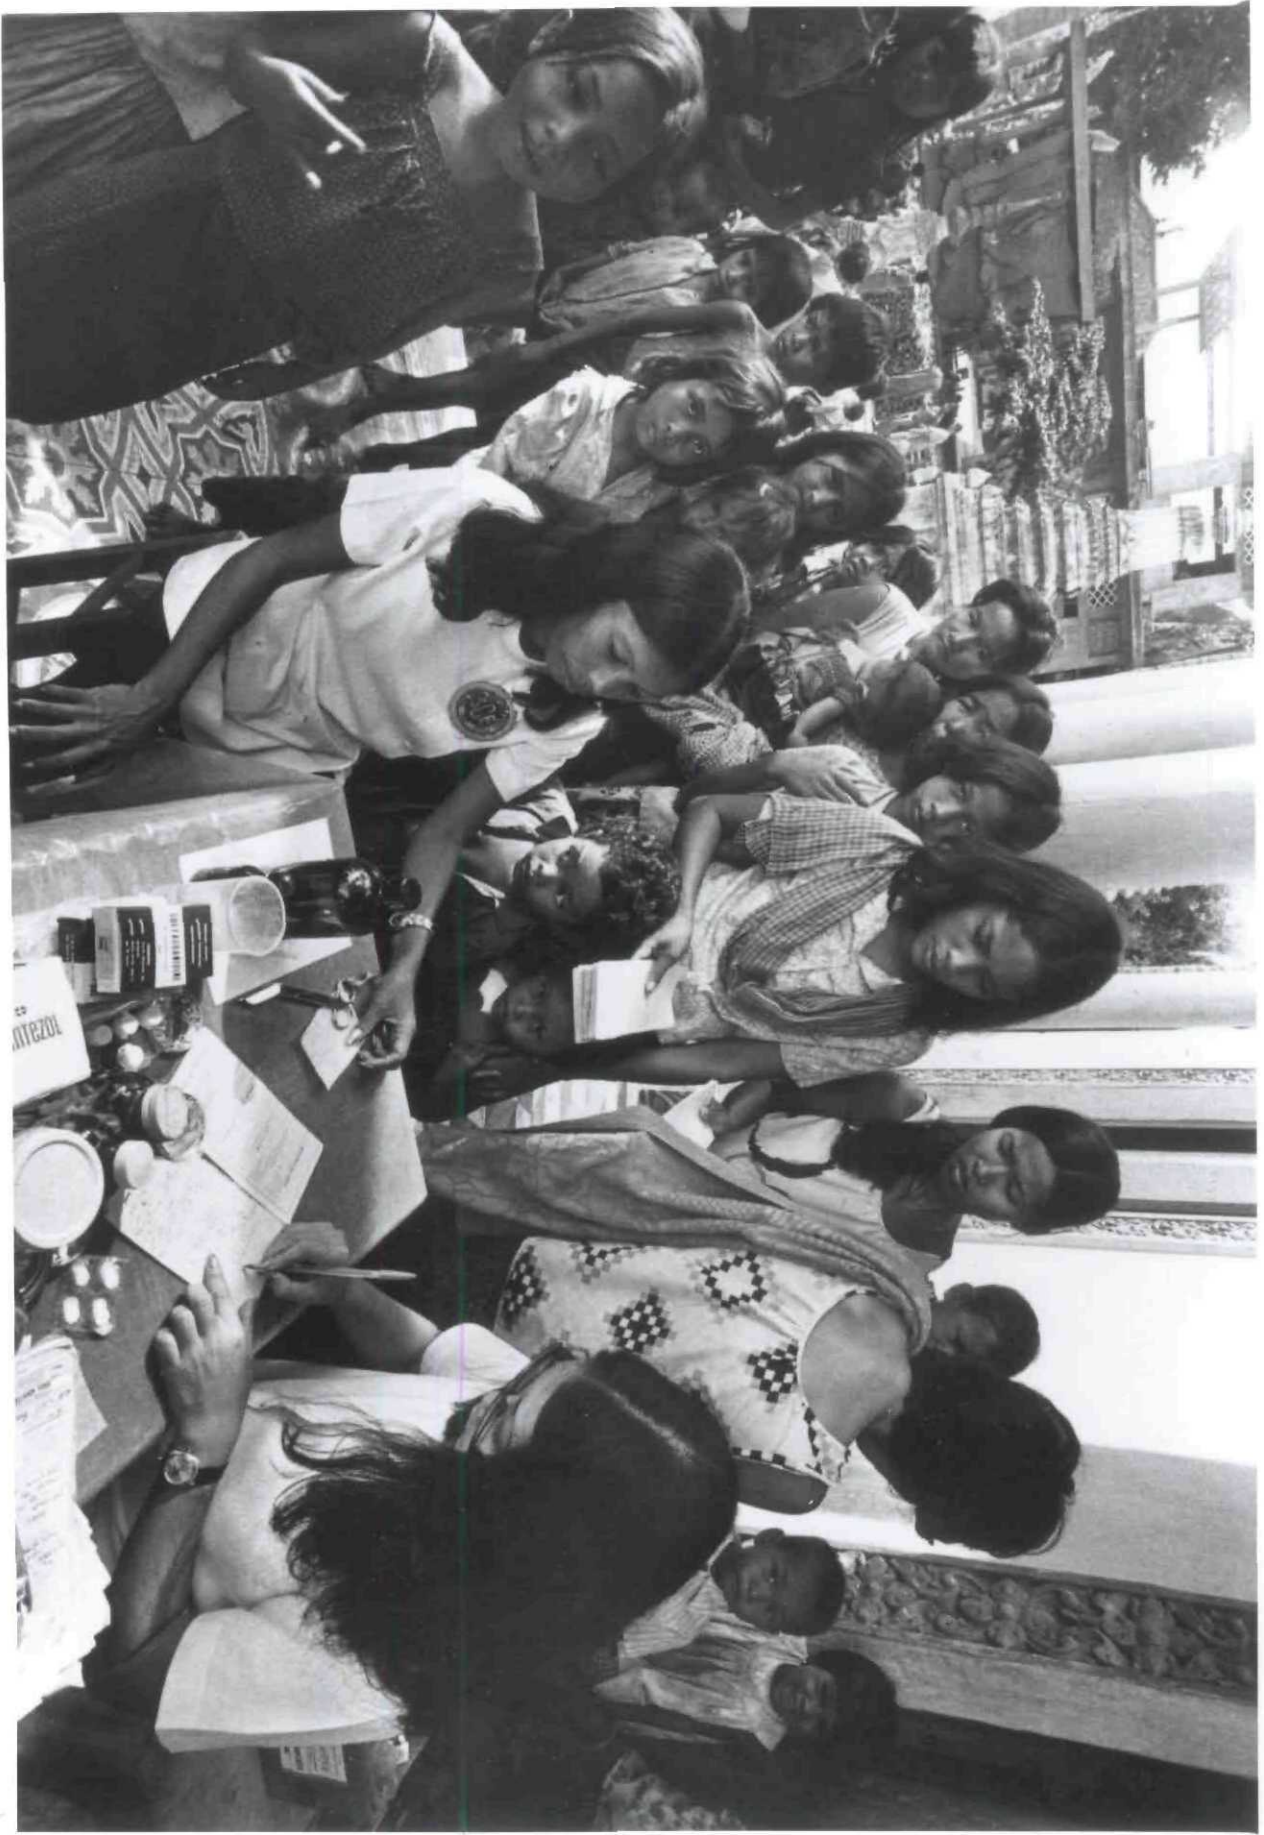

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - A mother consults with a doctor about her child's health while the nurse takes notes in one of the newly repaired Phnom Penh dispensaries. UNICEF has been providing drugs, diet supplements and transport for these dispensaries through a grant from the Canadian Government.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs, UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids, and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7080

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - This young Kmer nurse, trained by British nurses, assists mothers in a clinic in Phnom Penh. UNICEF has been providing assistance to the British Save the Children Fund which is operating feeding centres and clinics for children in Phnom Penh's pagodas, by supplying transport, corn-soya blend, milk powder, cooking oil and paediatric services for malnourished children.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs, UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7081

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - This child was wounded in a rocket attack during the recent hostilities in Cambodia. He is being treated in the recently repaired paediatric ward at AKS hospital. UNICEF has been collaborating with WHO and World Vision Kmer to repair the paediatric and maternity services at the Amite-Kmer-Sovietique Hospital. In consultation with WHO, World Vision is remodelling and repairing the building. UNICEF has been providing building materials, rehydration fluids, drugs and medical equipment and suitable food for children.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs, UNICEF in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres; with thousands of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends, of soy, and paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7082

EMERGENCY

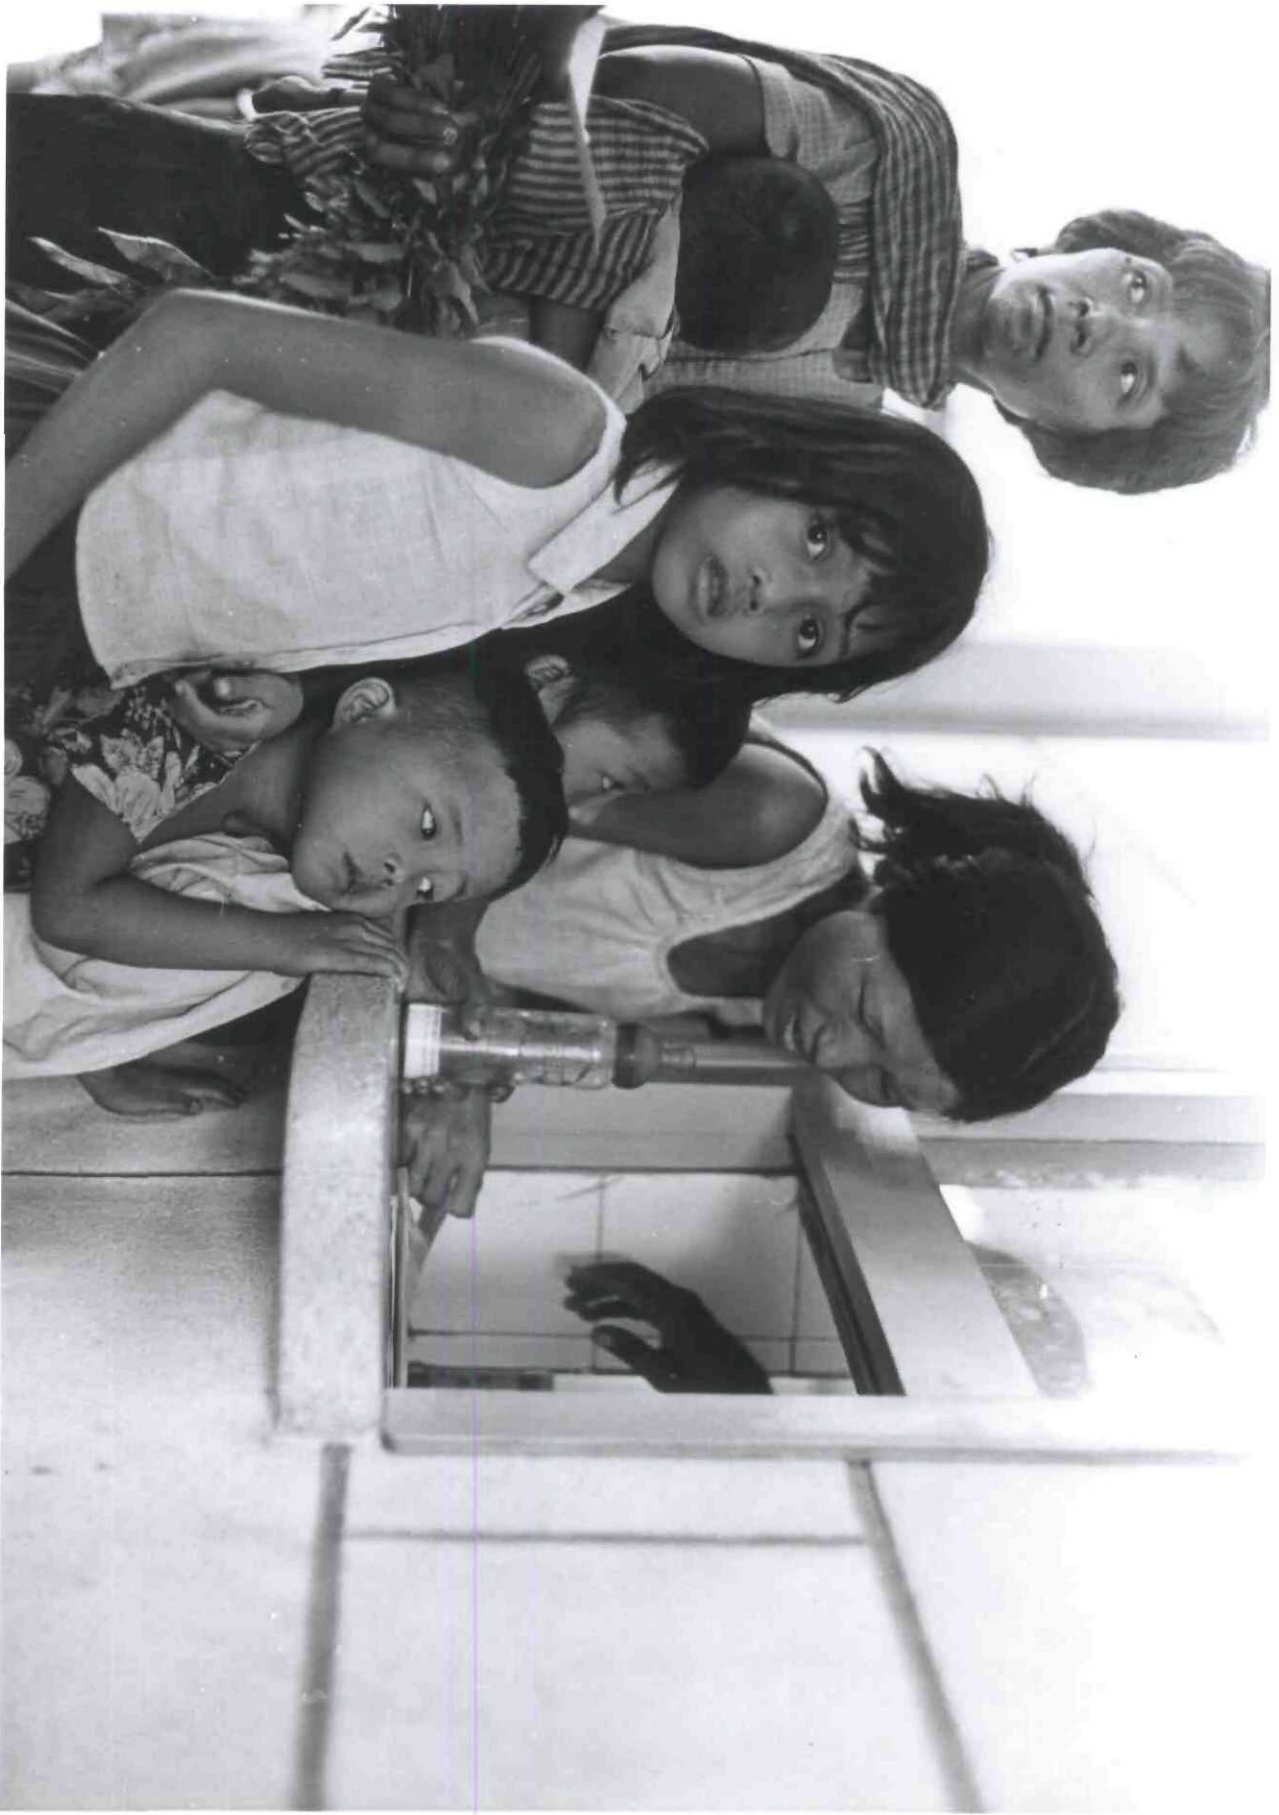

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - Sick children in a newly repaired rehydration ward. UNICEF has been collaborating with WHO and World Vision Khmer to repair paediatric and maternity services at the Amitie-Khmer-Sovietique Hospital. In consultation with WHO, World Vision is remodelling and repairing the building.

UNICEF has been providing building materials, rehydration fluids, drugs, medical equipment and suitable food for children.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs, UNICEF in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7084

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

CAMERON/75 - The dispensary window is the focal point in a recently repaired dispensary in Phnom Penh, where mothers and children get drugs airlifted by UNICEF.

Although the fighting seems over in Cambodia, hunger and suffering will continue for months to come. UNICEF (The United Nations Children's Fund) is continuing relief operations to meet the urgent needs of children and mothers. Undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing. To meet these emergency needs UNICEF, in close cooperation with voluntary agencies, is supplying feeding centres, nutrition treatment centres, medical dispensaries, clinics and rehydration centres with hundreds of tons of milk powder, nutritional blends of corn-soya, paediatric services, rehydration fluids and medical equipment. Most of these supplies have been flown into Phnom Penh by UNICEF-chartered planes. The UNICEF office in Phnom Penh remains open and expects to continue to operate effectively for the benefit of children throughout Cambodia.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO BY CAMERON

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7038

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- This girl is named Long Khan; she is five years old and was brought into Thol Kawk in a desperate condition. She weighs 7.6 kg (15.6 lbs.), more than 60% below her proper weight.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40

CREDIT UNICEF PHOTO

ICEF 7036

EMERGENCY

CAMBODIA

HEWETT/75 -- These malnutrition victims are being treated at the Tuol Kruk nutrition centre in Phnom Penh. Mothers, sisters and other relatives ranging from grandmothers to boy soldiers stay in the centre with the children to help with simple care and feeding.

In the face of new emergencies in the Indochina Peninsula, UNICEF is launching relief operations to help mothers and children in Cambodia and the Republic of Viet Nam. In Cambodia, where undernourishment among children is widespread and severe malnutrition cases are sharply increasing, UNICEF is supplying hundreds of tons of milk powder and medical needs as quickly as the airlift can take them into Phnom Penh. In the capital, UNICEF is helping to open 11 more nutrition centres and quintupling the capacity of a hospital ward for children to take the pressure off existing facilities. In the Republic of Viet Nam, UNICEF has begun to supply as a first response tarpaulins, drugs, first aid kits, mosquito netting, blankets, stretchers and support for medical teams. These supplies are being rushed to Saigon by air.

PLEASE CREDIT UNICEF PHOTOS BY ANTHONY HEWETT ICEF SERIES 7029-40