The death of Tarzie Vittachi is an irreparable loss not only to the UNICEF family but to the growing movement to eradicate poverty's worst manifestations -- among them mass malnutrition, preventable death and disability of millions of children. We will never forget this brilliant and dedicated thinker whose creativity and warmth touched the lives of millions of children and inspired us all. Tarzie Vittachi was a citizen of the 21st century who enabled the 20th to glimpse a better future.
